Your job takes you away from your desk. Now you can take the information you need on a smart phone or tablet.

ID MobileAccess 1.0 is available on all mobile devices and provides you quick access to equipment and parts inventory information. Available for any internet enabled mobile device this application dials you in to see what is available in your dealership, even when you're not there.

Get a live feed of information directly from IntelliDealer giving you the ability to provide your customers accurate information even when you are away from your location. Show your customers availability of parts or equipment on your lot and even email equipment unit information, including available multi-media directly from your mobile device.

Parts Inventory on the Go

Now your mobile technicians, parts delivery people and everyone in your organization can see parts availability even when they are away from their desk.

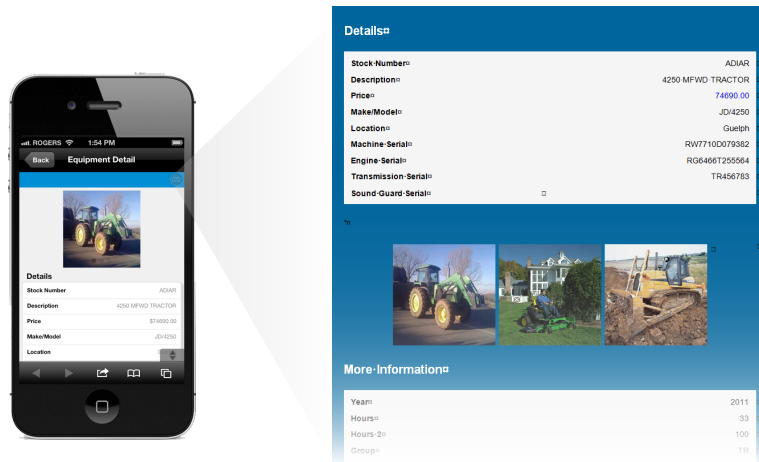

Search your parts inventory based on basic fields (parts number, location, description, vendor) or advanced fields (Bin, class, type, source) to find the part information. The mobile application displays on-hand and on-order quantities by branch location. Also view detailed information about the part including retail price, comments and package quantity.

Equipment Inventory on Your Phone

View your entire equipment inventory from your mobile device including available multi-media in IntelliDealer. Search all available units and drill down into the details including serial numbers and attachments.

Share equipment information even when you are away from your desk. Send emails to customers right from your mobile device with the touch of a button. Your customer will receive a full color email that includes available multi-media and unit information.

Don't want to show the price? No problem. Deselect the 'show price' before sending the email and the customer will receive the unit information only.
