Unified Threat Management Appliance

Total security management

Key Benefits

- Improve your network security
- Flexible and powerful reporting

Trying to determine the level of your dealership's security as well as keeping up on advancements in today's security technologies can be challenging. Unified Threat Management (UTM) Appliance makes it easy for you to have confidence in your network security.

UTM Appliance is a combination of network-level security devices that help protect your network from security threats, improve your staff's productivity and help protect the flow of information to and from your customers. When combined with the optional Network Security Center it can provide comprehensive security management to help your dealership in its regulatory compliance efforts.

As UTM Appliance monitors the inbound and outbound activity on your network, common business security risks as well as access to non-work-related sites are blocked instantly. This helps give you instant peace of mind regarding your dealership's network security.

Network Security You Can Trust

- Improve your network security by reducing exposure to Internet Malware (Viruses/Spyware), spam and targeted attacks
- Optimize employee efficiency by restricting non-business -related web access (gambling, explicit content, social networking, etc.)

Unfortunately, conventional network protection systems, such as firewalls and/or hosted security applications, can either be limited in their ability to inspect network traffic or challenging to implement and manage.

UTM Appliance provides cost-effective, easy-to-implement network-level protection and content filtering at the network edge with real-time performance. The system's capabilities are supported by an industry-leading eight International Computer Security Association (ICSA) certifications including virus protection and content filtering, along with network-level services including firewall and intrusion prevention. In addition, UTM Appliance has ICSA certifications for antivirus detection, antivirus cleaning and antispysware detection.

UTM Appliance with Network Security Center

Increase Your Awareness and Reporting with Network Security Center

In a world of growing Internet security threats, critical data is exposed to thousands of malicious attacks every day without us knowing it. Many dealerships do not have the time, resources, or knowledge to adequately secure customer data on their own.

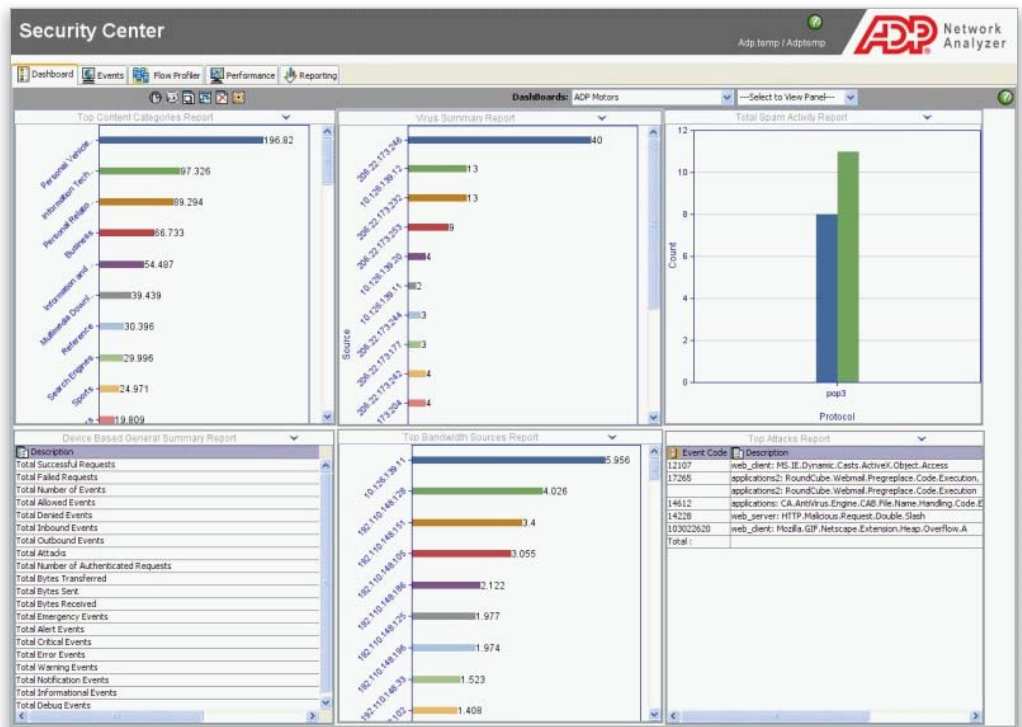

The Network Security Center provides real-time information on your network security throughout the dealership. A dedicated security operations center proactively monitors your network devices and notifies you when a critical security event takes place. The Network Security Center also provides robust reporting tools.

Flexible and Powerful Security

Network security professionals are behind the scene watching, so when alerts are triggered, an engineer will investigate and contact you regarding the issue.

- View information the way you want with customizable dashboards
- Easy-to-use reports help you troubleshoot network speed issues, potential viruses, malware and more
- View events in near real-time to solve issues as they arise

By adding UTM Appliance and Network Security Center as part of your dealership's security program, you have the tools and reports to help you easily manage your dealership's exposure risks.

Network Security Center allows you to focus on your business while keeping your valuable information secure.
