Wireless LAN

Wireless network for your dealership

Give staff freedom to move around your dealership while staying in touch with sales and service activities

With Wireless LAN, your dealership staff can use their laptops and work with customers wherever it's convenient—it doesn't have to be at their desk. Salespeople can access vehicle information, or even start the order process, right from the lot. With quick, easy access to information from anywhere in the dealership, you'll find your employees get more done in less time, and your customers are happier.

Wireless LAN Provides:

- Increased sales opportunities by having quick, easy access to information in the dealership lot
- Improved productivity by moving network access wherever the work is happening
- Expanded sharing of computer workstations in the service department
- Reduced costs by eliminating cabling and wiring expenses

Wireless LAN integrates seamlessly into your existing network, enabling mobility and increasing productivity quickly and cost-effectively. Consider how Wireless LAN can benefit your dealership:

- Increase Mobility Wireless LAN systems provide users with access to real-time information anywhere in the dealership
- Flexible Installation Extend your network capabilities to unreachable areas of your dealership easily and effectively. Remain agile and reduce the costs associated with changing and enhancing network accessibility as your business grows and changes
- Efficient Scalability Wireless LAN systems are easily configured and changed to meet the needs of specific applications. Whether you have a small number of users or a large network infrastructure with thousands of users, wireless LAN systems are scalable to handle a broad roaming area

Fast Installation and Deployment

A Wireless LAN can be up and running in no time! You don't have to worry about a site license or cable installation to slow you down. Wireless LAN is supported by ADP, an organization that has 120 certified networking experts and supports over 8,000 dealership network installations.

Network Performance and Reliability

Armed with a performance analysis tool, ADP's technical support teams can identify and repair wireless problems without interrupting business.
